Roberts brothers found guilty in Perdue death

Two local brothers charged in connection with the death of 73-year-old Frank Perdue in September of 2012 have been convicted on charges related to the death by a Clinton County Circuit Court jury.

Both Phillip Roberts and Thomas A. Roberts were both originally charged and subsequently indicted for murder in Perdue's death. The victim was found dead at his resident on Perdue Road near the Clinton/Wayne County line on September 20, 2012. The following day, after warrants had been obtained on both Roberts brothers, they turned themselves in to Clinton County Sheriff Rick Riddle.

Preliminary autopsy results at the time of the incident indicated the victim died of blunt force trauma and multiple stab wounds.

Clinton Circuit Judge David L. Williams had set aside a full week for the trial, and it took the full week for the case to be resolved. That included one night of jury sequestration during deliberations of the guilt or innocence phase of the trial in which the defendants claimed self defense.

Following testimony by several witnesses, including the defendants themselves, the jury deliberated over a two-day period before announcing the verdicts and took about an hour in the sentencing recommendation phase.

The trial began last Monday, June 16 with jury selection and open-

Gregory dies in auto accident

A former Clinton County resident died Friday night as a result of a single vehicle automobile accident just before midnight.

The accident claimed the life of Frank D. Gregory, 69, of Monticello, Kentucky, Friday around 11:54 p.m.

Gregory was traveling north on U.S. 127 when his vehicle left the roadway and struck a utility poll near Mountain View Recreation Park just north of Albany.

He was driving a red 2009 Chevrolet pickup and was transfered to Clinton County Hospital by the Clinton County EMS.

Gregory was pronounced deceased as a result of the injuries sustained in the accident.

According to the Albany City Police, the exact cause of the accident is unknown at this time and the investigation is ongoing.

Among his survivors were his widow, Clinton County native Faye Gibson Gregory, and a son, Junior (Kathleen) Gregory, of Albany.

A complete death notice for Frank Gregory appears this week on page 8.

Occupational tax collection rate is surprisingly low

The occupational tax, or license fees, on employers and employees who have a business or work inside Clinton County has been around for 15 years. However, many of the businesses and individuals who, by statute, are required to pay the tax to the county aren't doing so--and some are apparently still even unaware they have to, according to Occupational Tax Administrator Virginia Conner.

Fiscal court deals with several matters during regular meeting last week

The tax was originally adopted at three quarters (0.75) of one percent on revenue in 1999 and includes businesses that operate in Clinton County, employees who work for those businesses and individuals, such as farmers, ranchers, etc.

But somewhat surprisingly, Conner estimates that only 40 percent, or two in five of those required to pay the local tax are actually doing so. And, she says there are more individuals than businesses who are delinquent in paying.

'Bus Stop Cafe' is a huge success, feeding 500 youth per week

The "No Kid Hungry" projects is now finishing up its third week with its newest project, "Bus Stop Cafe" and according to project overseer Melissa Tallent, the rolling food truck is feeding around 500 children per week in Clinton County.

Every morning, Monday through Friday, the bus loads up at 7:10 a.m. at the high school and makes several stops during the morning hours before heading back and loading up for lunch.

Volunteer Bro. David Dorn helped load the "Bus Stop Cafe" Friday morning to prepare for the lunch route along with Melissa Tallent, right, and Linda Brummett.

Tallent said the project is going better than expected.

"Sixty per day has been the lowest we've fed," Tallent said. "We are close to 500 on the week. Overall I'm really happy. This is for the kids and we are helping and that's great, but it bothered me when we pulled up to a couple of stops and I saw that the parents were hungry too."

Tallent said the grant she has acquired for this project will run out this summer, but she hopes to get donations in order to provide for more people in the fall of this year.

"We would like to do boxes of non-perishable foods ... these kids who have been on the bus, we would like to go back to their homes in October and December and deliver food that is sustainable like cereal, mac and cheese and have the bus with volunteers go door to door," Tallent said. "If I can get enough money to do that then that's what we are going to do."

Tallent said she has had numerous people volunteer to help on the bus and after one day making the stops they are ready for another day.

"The people who work on the bus, they probably get more out of it. I do ... seeing them and talking to them. When this bus pulls up they come running,"

'14 Fair has a good run

The 2014 Clinton County Fair came to a close last Saturday night after a week-long run.

As was reported last week in the Clinton County News, the Monday night Family Night crowd was one of the largest ever, and the remaining nights saw crowds that ranged from thin to packed.

The lineup of events this year saw the return of several old favorites to the schedule, along with several new additions to the Clinton County Fair slate.

At top left, Destiny Guffey of Albany was crowned Miss Clinton County Fair on Wednesday night. She is the daughter of Jimmie Guffey and the late Shirley Guffey.

Several additional photos from last week's Clinton County Fair can be found throughout this week's Clinton County News, along with several lists of Fair winners.

Additional winners will be published as they are made available.

School board attorney says Superintendent's contract extension was legally approved

Clinton County School Board attorney Lindsey Bell, during a call meeting of the Board of Education last Friday afternoon, issued a brief oral statement in regards to Superintendent Charlotte Bernard's contract. Bell made the statement following an approximate 50-minute closed session on possible or pending ligation last Friday afternoon, June 20.

The superintendent's contract had come under some scrutiny earlier this month by a former employee who claimed that under Kentucky Revised Statutes pertaining to superintendents, the latest contract renewal was invalid and also threatened filing a civil action over the issue in circuit court.

Bell, who was board attorney during the original contract awarded Bernard as well as the renewal last year, said that in his opinion, "the superintendent's (current) contract is valid. He said it was given for an additional four years, and the new contract, which was approved last September, doesn't take effect until July 1 of this year. "It is my opinion," Bell added, "that the contract is valid and

Scam artists targeting South Kentucky RECC members

SKRECC has learned that a member in Russell County received a phone call from someone claiming to be from South Kentucky RECC and was told that he had 45 minutes to pay his bill or he would be cut off. This "representative" advised him to make payment electronically.

SKRECC Vice President of Member Services and Public Relations Ruby Patterson said if there is ever an issue with a person's bill, the company would use an automated phone call, but adds that SKRECC does not call people to tell them their bill is due.

"The only time an automated call is made is when people are about to be disconnected, and this is only done after business hours. During the course of this call, they are given the option to pay their bill, but it is electronically. Members are not giving their account information to a live individual. And, we couldn't possibly call our more than 66,000 members personally to tell them their bill is due and ask for payment by phone."

Patterson urges members to never give out financial or personal information to anyone that calls them and claims to be from the co-op. If members initiate the call to South Kentucky RECC to pay their bill or for some other business transaction, then she says it is safe to tell employees such information.

Patterson also says employees and contractors from South Kentucky RECC that are working in communities or at your home should be in company vehicles, or vehicles marked as contractors, and have an identification badge. If they do not, you're asked to call your county Sheriff's Department or the local South Kentucky RECC office. In addition, if you have caller i.d. on your phone, please write down the phone number that contacted you. In many cases, officers can search the number out to see if it has been reported as a scam.

Patterson says the incident is being reported to local authorities and urges all members to be aware.

Record 100 seniors meet state benchmark requirements in math

Out of the 118 graduating seniors at GRREC member Clinton County High School this year, 85 percent met the state benchmark requirements in mathematics. The seniors will not be required to take remedial math classes. The U.S. Department of Education states only 27 percent of students who take remedial courses earn a college degree.

Clinton County Superintendent Charlotte Bernard said, "I am very proud of our math department and our senior graduates. Their hard work has opened the door for the future of our graduates' college education. The addition of the Senior College Prep Math Program has proven to be very successful."

The program was developed by James DeForest, former project BEAM instructor at Somerset Community College. It added 59 to the seniors' benchmark beginning number of 41. The addition was a 144 percent increase in senior class members.

"Tiding Of Redemption"

C. C. Crawford has given us a set of "Safety First" rules for the spiritual health of our souls.

Don't forget that you are more than a "mass of breathing clay" (Gen. 2 :7).

Don't forget that there is something within you which the grave-digger cannot bury (Eccles. 12:7).

Don't forget that your soul will outlast the hills which look eternal (Matt. 10:28).

Don't forget that you will soon be and live in that eternity which lies before you (Job 14:12).

Don't forget that Heaven and Hell are realities (Luke 16:23).

Don't forget that you must be in one or the other when you life here shall end.

Don't forget that those who reject the Lord Jesus Christ will be lost forever (John 8:21).

Don't forget that you will be saved forever if as a needy guilty sinner you receive Christ by faith as your personal Saviour.

Distracted driving affects all

Source: Nicole Peritore, UK program coordinator for Health Education through Extension Leadership and Distraction.gov

We live in a world with information readily available at our fingertips 24/7. While this is a great convenience, it can be dangerous if you are behind the wheel.

According to the U.S. Department of Transportation, at any given second in the United States, an estimated 660,000 people are driving while using a cell phone or manipulating an electronic device. In 2012, over 3,000 people died and around 420,000 more were injured in automobile accidents involving a distracted driver.

Distracted driving includes any action that takes your eyes off the road. While distracted driving includes everything from cell phone use to grooming, texting is considered the most dangerous act by far. When a person is texting, it requires visual, manual and cognitive attention.

In Kentucky, it is against the law for drivers to text while behind the wheel. The state has also banned all cell phone use for novice drivers and bus drivers.

Even if you're not responding or composing a text, reading one can be just as dangerous. It takes the average person five seconds to read a text message. During that five seconds, if the person is driving 55 miles per hour, they could drive the length of a football field without paying attention to the road and traffic around them.

The best way to prevent distracted driving is not to do it and encourage your family members and friends to limit their cell phone usage while they are driving. If you are tempted, turn your cell phone off when you get in the driver's seat or put it in a compartment in your vehicle that you can't reach.

If you are a parent of a beginning driver, remind them that if a police officer finds them texting or talking while behind the wheel, it could delay them getting their license or cause their license to be suspended.

Thrill of the grill

Summer marks the time to move our cooking from the kitchen to the backyard grill. Using the grill can be a fun way to add sizzle to your cooking experiences especially when you practice grilling fruits and vegetables in addition to meats.

The Thrill of the Grill class offered at the Clinton County Extension Office on Wednesday, July 2nd at both 11:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. provides tips about the best cuts of meat for the outdoor grill, recipes for grilling with fruits and vegetables, and discusses the importance of keeping our food safe throughout the grilling experience.

Techniques will be demonstrated and samples will be provided. The class is free, but preregistration is required.

Over 29 million Americans have diabetes

More than 29 million people in the United States have diabetes, up from the previous estimate of 26 million in 2010, according to a report released by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. One in four people with diabetes doesn't know he or she has it.

Another 86 million adults – more than one in three U.S. adults – have prediabetes, where their blood sugar levels are higher than normal but not high enough to be classified as type 2 diabetes. Without weight loss and moderate physical activity, 15 percent to 30 percent of people with prediabetes will develop type 2 diabetes within five years.

Key findings from the National Diabetes Statistics Report, 2014 (based on health data from 2012), include:

• 29 million people in the United States (9.3 percent) have diabetes.

• 1.7 million people aged 20 years or older were newly diagnosed with diabetes in 2012.

• Non-Hispanic black, Hispanic, and American Indian/Alaska Native adults are about twice as likely to have diagnosed diabetes as non-Hispanic white adults.

• 208,000 people younger than 20 years have been diagnosed with diabetes (type 1 or type 2).

• 86 million adults aged 20 years and older have prediabetes.

• The percentage of U.S. adults with prediabetes is similar for non-Hispanic whites (35 percent), non-Hispanic blacks (39 percent), and Hispanics (38 percent).

Diabetes is a serious disease that can be managed through physical activity, diet, and appropriate use of insulin and oral medications to lower blood sugar levels. Another important part of diabetes management is reducing other cardiovascular disease risk factors, such as high blood pressure, high cholesterol and tobacco use.

People with diabetes are at increased risk of serious health complications including vision loss, heart disease, stroke, kidney failure, amputation of toes, feet or legs, and premature death.

Court votes to refuse Heritage grant, approves budget, renews health insurance at June meeting

Clinton County Fiscal Court held its regular meeting last Thursday evening June 19 with all members present and a variety of issues being discussed and/or voted on. The meeting also included another brief closed session pertaining to possible litigation.

The court finalized the 2014-15 fiscal year budget of just over $4.6 million, with no changes being made since the totals were published in recent weeks. County Treasurer Dallas Sidwell, in presenting the budget for second reading, noted it had been approved by the Department of Local Government.

The court also approved the monthly treasurer's report and fund transfers.

After voting to pay claims and bills, Magistrate Terry Buster asked whether or nor there was any money to give county employees any type of raise. Judge/Executive Lyle Huff said that without some type of revenue source, he didn't think there was but did assure magistrates he would look over the budget with Sidwell in the coming weeks to see if there was any place in the budget that could afford an employee raise.

The judge also noted that about $200,000 in FLEX discretionary road funds would be reimbursed to the county into the road fund.

Sheriff Rick Riddle then addressed the court, requesting they approve CPA Ed Lanham to once again do the sheriff's office tax settlement. After the court voted to approve Lanham, sheriff Riddle presented the county with a check in the amount of $21,745 in excess fees from his office of the 2012 calendar year.

Bids were then opened on various road materials, with Gaddie-Shamrock being the only bidder on blacktop (coal mix, etc.) and Albany Quarry also submitted bids on gravel and Albany Building Supply on pipe and tile. The court voted to award bids as equally as possible to all the local bidders on items sold at the lower cost to the county when needed.

Virginia Conner, Occupational Tax Administrator, addressed the court and explained some things she and county attorney Michael Rains were doing to try and collect back or unpaid occupational license fees, as well as raising awareness to employers and individuals about the occupational tax. (A separate article on the occupational tax can be found beginning on page 1.)

The court also voted to approve a salt contract purchase, recommended by KACo for 300 tons of salt at $97 per ton. Delivery is to be made in August and hopefully be a large enough supply to cover the county's needs next winter.

Judge Huff then told magistrates he was still working to find someone to do work on widening a doorway at the Community Center and asked magistrates to make suggestions if they knew of any contractors that could do the job correctly.

Grady Wilson then addressed the court about county employee health insurance. Under the new healthcare act, policy renewals are now being done on a calendar year-to-year basis and the court had the option of renewing the policy that came up for renewal back in the spring, or switching policies.

The updated renewal policy is approximately five percent higher overall and based on the number of employees covered in the plan will cost the county a little over $1,000 more per month to provide the insurance. After a brief discussion, a motion was made and passed 5-1 to renew the policy, effective July 1 through June of 2015.

The motion to approve the renewal for the policy, underwritten by Anthem, passed with Magistrate Ricky Craig voting no. Once again Craig said he felt the county should have "shopped around" for other insurance companies to try and get a lower rate.

Magistrate Mickey Riddle then made a motion to send a letter to the Heritage Foundation for the court to officially go on record as turning down a grant for a nature trail project in the Wells Bottom Community. The project, which originally began last year, has been controversial since the start. Riddle said he had been accused of being for the project but had never voted on it. His motion to send the letter turning down the grant was made by Craig and passed by unanimous vote.

Judge Huff told the court he had already indicated to the Heritage Foundation that the county was no longer interested in the project but warned that the court would be dealing with such issues again as there are apparently some other areas in the county that might be interested in using property for nature preserve sites.

Magistrate Craig then took issue with some comments in a letter pertaining to the Wellness Center that was published earlier this month in the Clinton County News after a copy had been obtained at an open meeting of the city council.

Assistant County Attorney Gary Little, who was sitting in on the meeting in the absence of Michael Rains, suggested that if the letter dealt with any type of litigation, the matter would be better discussed in closed session.

The court did enter into a 20-minute closed session to discuss possible or pending litigation but took no official action.

Also during last week's meeting, the court approved the 2014-15 Industrial Authority budget.

The next regular meeting of Clinton Fiscal Court is scheduled for July 16 at 5 p.m. and is open to the general public.

enforceable between her (Supt. Bernard) and the board. I see no problem in the contract whatsoever."

The only other item of business that was the focal point of both special sessions was selecting an insurance carrier for the schools commercial auto, commercial umbrella and workman's compensation insurance, and board members were divided on the issue.

Some board members felt they should continue all coverage through KEMI (Kentucky Employers Mutual Insurance, an affiliate for Liberty Mutual, with the local representative Pedigo-Lessenberry due to past experience with the company. Others, however, felt they should go with Roeding Insurance based in Lexington, which had the cheaper rate for commercial auto and umbrella coverage.

During the first meeting, a motion to renew with KEMI for all coverage, made by Paula Key and seconded by Goldie Stonecipher, resulted in a 2-2 tie with one abstention. Board members Kevin Marcum and Jeff Sams voted no and Junior Cecil abstained. and after about a half-hour discussion, the matter was tabled and a second call meeting on the issue was held Monday evening of this week, June 23, again with all members present.

Following more discussion, it was learned that Pedigo-Lessenberry had the lower rate for workman's comp while Roeding had the lower quote for overall commercial coverage.

After almost another half-hour of discussions, board member Cecil made a motion to award the workman's comp policy to Peddigo-Lessenberry at $50,861 and commercial auto and umbrella coverage to Roeding at $138,200 annually. That motion eventually passed 4-1 with Marcum voting no.

The meeting was then adjourned.

The next regular meeting of the Clinton County Board of Education is scheduled for Monday, July 14 at 5 p.m. at the Central Office board room and is open to the public.

REGIONAL NEWS

TIMES JOURNAL
Russell Springs

The third annual "Run With All Your Heart" is now less than two months away and event organizers are encouraging folks to sign up early either online or through the mail for the Saturday, August 2 run.

The run is in memory of the late Sarah Roberts Hart and all money made, after race expenses are paid, is donated to the Sarah Roberts Hart Fund.

"We just want to keep the memory of Sarah going on," said organizer Ashley Hart.

One thing new this year is a Whirlpool kitchen of appliances donated by Lawless and Smith in Russell Springs to the race for a raffle benefitting the event.

Registration for the Whirlpool giveaway will soon begin online at runwithallyourhart.3wayracing.com with chances to register in person at Jamestown Healthcare or Duo County Telephone as well as RWAYH's post office box at Run With All Your Hart, c/o: Sarah Roberts Hart Fund, P.O. Box 1036, Jamestown, Ky. 42629 and specify that it is a donation.

The night before the run will be packet pick-up at the Russell County Schools' auditorium as in years past. Packet pick-up will also take place before the run that Saturday morning.

Organizers are also asking for any local bands that would like to perform along the roads to get in contact with them about doing so.

Five Russell County High School seniors also received scholarships using money generated by the fund. The scholarship is for $12,000 per year and is renewable each year as long as the student meets the terms of the scholarship agreement.

"We just want to keep encouraging those students out there and keep this scholarship funded," Hart said. "We still have great support from the community and if there are any other businesses that we haven't spoken to that want to contribute or donate or have some part we'd love to have them involved in any way they want to."

On race day there will be inflatables and face painting for the kids as well as music during the course and on site at the ANCE and food and drinks for the race participants.

The virtual run is also still an option as in previous years and information concerning that can be found on the website.

Anyone with questions should contact Stephanie Foley at stephanie@3wayracing.com.

Mothers Against Drunk Driving in Tennessee is in danger of losing a key funding piece that matches funds enabling MADD TN to offer free victim services. Nationwide, over 10,000 people are killed--and more than 345,000 people are injured--in drunk driving crashes each year.

"Our MADD TN license plates are rolling billboards raising awareness about impaired driving and thousands of dollars to help MADD's efforts in Tennessee," noted volunteer Norris Shelley of Cookeville. Norris and his wife Aline were two of the chief volunteers who campaigned to get the MADD TN plate that went into production in 1997.

If MADD TN fails to maintain a minimum of 500 plates in circulation by June 30, 2014 the plate will be retired and the organization will lose over $15,000 of annual funding as well as the awareness that it creates. Currently, MADD TN needs approximately 60 plates to be purchased. The MADD plate costs $35, with $30.75 going towards their efforts to make Tennessee roadways safer.

MADD volunteers are urging concerned citizens across the state to step forward and make a MADD dash to their county clerk's office to purchase a plate that will support MADD Tennessee's work to save lives and support victims.

State program Director Kate Ritchie said, "I am very thankful to our faithful Tennessee volunteers and supporters who made the license plate initiative possible and who are now reaching out to their family and friends to keep the MADD TN plate. Their dedication is inspiring. With 95 counties in Tennessee, we would exceed our goal if one person from each county purchased a plate. Proof that one person can make a change."

Norris and Aline first got involved with MADD in 1993 after Aline's youngest brother, Chris Conaster, was killed August 14, 1993 in Fentress County by a repeat DUI offender. MADD was the organization that stepped in and provided information and court accompaniment for their family.

"We attended the organizational meeting of the local chapter in late September 1993 and have been volunteering with MADD since then," Norris said. "We knew we could not change what had happened to Chris but wanted to try to keep other families from suffering such a loss."

In addition to free victim services, MADD also holds special events throughout the year such as their Candlelight Vigil of Remembrance and Hope. They also provide a Victim Impact Panel, where victims tell their stories of how someone's impaired driving impacted their lives.

Offenders are court-ordered to attend this panel, which is intended to show the devastation drunk/impaired driving can cause and to help discourage a repeat offender.

TOMPKINSVILLE NEWS
Monroe County

Dr. Clella Hayes, 39, of Glasgow, who operates an office on N. Main St., Tompkinsville, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Bowling Green on Wednesday, June 11.

The Monroe County physician was charged with prescribing pain medications outside the course of professional medical practice, which resulted in the death of a patient, according to David J. Hale, United States Attorney for the Western District of Kentucky.

The 13-count indictment charges Hayes with dispensing and distributing Schedule II controlled substances and Schedule III controlled substances outside the course of her professional medical practice. She is charged with issuing and authorizing prescriptions for fentanyl, morphine, oxycodone, demerol, hydrocodone, cheratassuin and valium. According to the indictment, the alleged activities occurred between June 2010 through March 2014 and included eight patients.

On or about September 19, 2011, the indictment alleges that Hayes "intentionally dispensed and distributed the Schedule II pain medication fentanyl to a patient, which resulted in the patient's death. Further, between June 2009 and September 2011, Hayes is alleged to have intentionally dispensed and distributed Schedule II controlled substances to the same patient, outside the course of professional medical practice, by issuing and authorizing prescriptions for morphine, oxycodone, and demerol.

During the same period, the indictment charges Hayes with prescribing the Schedule III medication hydrocodone to the same patient outside the course of professional medical practice."

Hayes' office was closed and searched on Wednesday, March 17, with officials from Kentucky State Police Drug Enforcement/Special Investigations-West Branch, Kentucky State Police Drug Task Force, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Tompkinsille Police Department executing a search warrant at the office.

If Hayes is convicted at trial, she faces a minimum sentence of 20 years in prison, and a maximum sentence of life in prison, a fine of up to $2,500,000 and three years of supervised release.

WAYNE CO. OUTLOOK
Monticello

The Wayne County Board of Education took the first step toward a construction project for the middle school during their meeting on Monday evening. The board approved the BG1 form for the construction of additional classrooms at the middle school.

Superintendent Wayne Roberts noted that the project will include the square footage for approximately eight more classrooms. Early estimates put the cost of the project at $2.6 million.

The documents will be submitted to the Kentucky Department of Education for approval before the project can move forward. Roberts indicated that the goal is for the additional classrooms to be constructed by August 2015.

Also during the meeting, the board approved a bond sale and a resolution to authorize an agreement with the Kentucky Interlocal School Transportation Association to acquire eight school buses. Cost of the buses is approximately $750,000 and plans are to include them in the district's fleet by August when the new school year begins.

Earlier in the meeting, the board recognized staff members who are retiring from the district. A reception was held in honor of retirees and their families.

Staff members were then presented with a plaque acknowledging their service to the students of the Wayne County School District.

Retiring employees included: Phillip Burton, 30 years; Glenna East, 35 years; William Inman, 21 years; Savannah Jones, 22 years; Don Lair, 12 years; Kay T. Malone, 10 years; Annette Norfleet, 28 years; Brenda Peavie, 23 years; Cora Mae Poore, 10 years; Betty A. Rains, 19 years; Darlene Ramsey, 23 years; Donna Rice, 29 years; Brenda Smith, 23 years; and Donna Thompson, 11 years. Also during the meeting, the board:

• Approved the contract for Superintendent Roberts for two years and one month at a salary of $100,000 per year.

• Approved the salary schedule for 2014-2015, which includes a 1 percent pay increase for employees.

• Agreed to move forward with a plan to develop an alternative school for middle and high school students.

• Approved some minor changes to the student code of conduct.

• Approved a change to the 2014-2015 school calendar which would have class in session on August 20. The previous calendar did not have class scheduled for that day, but it is no longer mandated that the district cancel school for the MCDEA meeting.

A Wayne County man charged with arson in connection with last month's fire in the county attorney's office has made his first court appearance.

James Rigney, Jr., 18, was arraigned in Wayne District Court on Monday, June 16, and he entered a plea of not guilty.

During the proceeding, a public defender was appointed to represent Rigney.

A preliminary hearing in the case has been set for June 25 at 1 p.m. in Wayne District Court.

Rigney was arrested on June 4 and charged with arson second degree, burglary second degree, theft by unlawful taking under $500 and tampering with physical evidence.

The charges stem from a suspicious fire that occurred May 22 at the Columbia Avenue office of Wayne County Attorney Tom Simmons.

Firefighters were called to the scene of the fire at about 4:30 a.m. on May 22.

Kentucky State Police and the Fire Marshal's Office were on the scene several hours later to begin the investigation that resulted in Rigney's arrest.

Rigney remains lodged in the Wayne County Detention Center on a $25,000 cash bond.

New Charity Baptist Church was forced to have services in the basement this past Sunday.

Broken windows and a broken glass door were discovered Saturday afternoon by a church member when she came to water flowers in the cemetery behind the church, according to the pastor Koger Ramsey.

Sheriff Charles Boston stated that deputies were then dispatched to the church on Greenbriar Loop Road regarding a possible burglary and criminal mischief to the church.

Surveillance cameras at the church showed a man throwing pieces of cement blocks through a glass door at the side of the building just before 10:30 Friday night, June 13.

Steven Abbott, of Monticello, was later identified on the surveillance video as the man responsible.

Another camera showed the same man breaking windows at the back of the church.

Ramsey stated that it appeared that the man had found the pieces of cement and rocks in a pile under some trees on church property.

While the church was equipped with several surveillance cameras and a security system, they did not have glass breaking sensors. It does not appear that the man ever entered the building because the security alarm was never triggered.

Ramsey stated that nothing inside the church appeared to be disturbed.

Steven Abbott of Monticello was later identified on the surveillance video as the man responsible. He was arrested on Monday, June 16 for criminal mischief, a class D felony, according to Sheriff Boston.

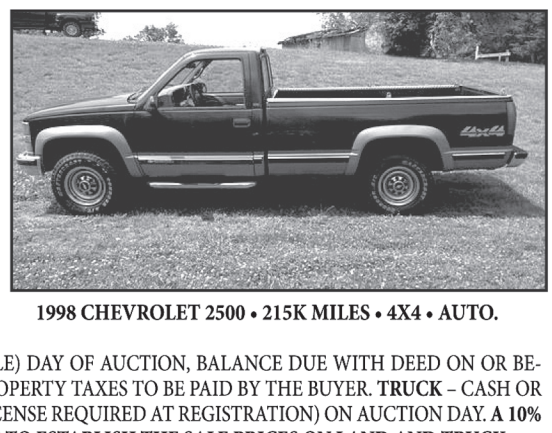

Abbott was transported to the Wayne County Detention Center, and pending the results of the investigation will be presented to the Wayne County Grand Jury for consideration.

In addition, Sheriff Boston stated that during this same time period deputies were dispatched to Senture Call Center and Morrow's Monument on West KY 90 concerning criminal mischief complaints. It is estimated that a substantial amount of damage had occurred to the businesses, according to a release from the Sheriff's Office. Sheriff Boston stated that persons of interest have been identified and interviewed. The investigation is continuing, and arrests are expected. At press time on Monday, June 16, no arrests had been made in these two cases.

First week of summer (NBA draft), tip it with a quiz question

Six of first 10 picks in Thursday's NBA draft Thursday night will be college rookies, including UK one-and-done Julius Randle.

Question: Who said, "One and done is the single worst violation of student-athlete relationships?"

"Kids don't go to class the second semester. They come in and play basketball a year and leave. I have no quarrel with kids wanting to go play basketball, [but] I think they should have to stay a couple or three years.

"I don't know anybody who likes it, There's one small set of people. Agents, representatives for NBA players."

Answer: John Skipper, President ESPN.

Skipper might have added to the small set list –names of ball coaches who use one-and-done to enrich themselves shamefully. Wait a minute, he did, citing John Calipari at Kentucky plays the system.

And, he might have announced how many games his network will air that feature one-and-dones.

√ Lexington. Money for VIP suites for Rupp Arena stalled again. Back to the back-burner again.

√ We-Own-You still. Indiana's high school hoops all-stars dominated Kentucky again.

√ Bowling Green. 14-team Conference-USA has five bowl game tie-in opportunities for Jeff Brohm's Hilltoppers this season WKU football will make television appearances three times or more, and has on schedule next year: Vanderbilt, Indiana and LSU, with a first-ever SEC home game in 2015, Vandy. Good for fans, good for recruiting.

√ Richmond. A keep-track story – Ex-Eastern Kentucky leading scorer Glenn Cosey is going to graduate school. Sort of. Cosey's post-grad classrooms will be in France, playing professionally for ALM Evreux, a B-level team. Off-court, opportunity-of-lifetime to travel, see, hear and partake in other cultures. Priceless.

Beyond Planet Kentucky ...

√ Waco, Texas. We ought pause and consider. Baylor star Isaiah Austin received a telephone call of a lifetime last week, not about where his name will be announced at the NBA draft this week, but news that his is a one-in-5,000 victim, diagnosed with Marfan syndrome.

Option? Be a college junior at Baylor and forget – but for the NBA Players Association's 19-year-old minimum rule, (leading to one-and-done), he might have been on an NBA roster two years ago and have couple million dollars in the bank.

√ World Cup. This close. Team USA is getting there, but not quite ready for (Final Four) prime time.

√ Chapel Hill. A sordid drama of alleged academic fraud whistle blown by ex-Tar Heel Rashad McCants has caused a hissing sound in UNC's athletic department. Hasn't happened yet, but could be prelude to this bombshell: NCAA official letter of inquiry. Investigate possible academic fraud and/or lack of institutional control in men's basketball program.

Bit of irony, a Kentucky fan weighed in on the UNC flap last week with a statement we've heard before with different names.

"... wonder whether the NCAA will do anything to Carolina?" he wrote. "If (it) does, at the glacial speed the NCAA moves, (coach) Roy Williams will be retired and everybody associated with this scandal will have moved on."

In this tale replace McCants with Bearup, then Joe B. Hall for Roy Williams and we have the mid-1980s.

Brett Bearup was the whistle blower, Joe B. Hall retired in 1985 and three years on, UK took the NCAA hit (two wins erased and SEC regular season and tournament titles nullified). More punishment came for academic fraud during Eddie Sutton's tenure and cost his job. Next, a magazine cover Kentucky Shame.

Deja'vu all over again?

√ Oakland, California . NCAA president Mark Emmert testified in the O'Bannon versus NCAA antitrust trial last week. In the Show-Me-The-Money crowd testimony nobody wanted to hear, Emmert was steadfast that a primary reason why fans embrace college sports is because they're attached to a school and community.

"To convert college sports into professional sports would be tantamount to converting it into minor league sports," he added. "And we know that in the U.S. minor league sports aren't very successful either for fan support or for the fan experience."

Amen.

View here: This case will go to U.S. Supreme Court with a judgement forthcoming in say, 2018, with a ruling that mandates student-athletes should be compensated.

That outcome will mark the end of college sports golden goose era, followed by Power Conference affiliates (SEC, Big Ten, ACC, Big 12 and Pac-10) who will compete for markets alongside the NFL and NBA, compete for television money and endorsements.

Best case scenario: So-called mid-major college programs will rise as a new option for fans. Caliber of play may not be power league level, but fans who can still believe they're watching amateurs, and paying reasonable ticket prices, will embrace the competition, leaving the money-grubbing professionals to their fate.

JUST WONDERING DEPT.

Has Formula One race driver Danica Patrick ever won anything? Or, is this a case of unabashed market cash-in on eye candy?

And so it goes.

Monday night scramble

Summer sports lull time

Golf is always an option, as is water sports and fishing and there is always a little softball on the local scene, and hunting enthusiasts are busy getting things ready for deer season, but for the most part, we're talking about individual fun only in this area.

Team sports, especially on the high school level, are currently going through the dead period right now and while high school athletes are certainly able to condition and practice on their own, there can be no organized team training for the next three weeks or so.

Organized practice for the next upcoming high school seasons can officially begin on July 15, so until then, don't expect to be getting a lot of news about our athletes at C.C.H.S.

Unless there have been changes that I'm not aware of, up next in Clinton County will be the fall sports lineups for the 2014-15 seasons that feature our boys' and girls' soccer, cross country and golf teams, in addition to the girls' volleyball and boys' football seasons.

So, for the next few weeks, before team developments begin, get out and enjoy the summer weather. Hit one of our two lakes for a weekend of fishing (the crappie are big and hungry right now, I'm hearing) or head out to 76 Falls Country Club and take in a round of golf.

We're headed into the dog days of summer, so get out and enjoy the heat. We'll be missing it again before you know it.

Shelley, Huff compete in state amateur golf

On the state scene, last week's Kentucky Amateur Golf Tournament held in Georgetown's Cherry Blossom Country Club did have at least two local participants that I noticed while scanning the scores each day.

Former Golf Dawgs Evan Shelley and Bobby Huff competed in the Clark's PumpNShop Marathon Kentucky Amateur Golf Tournament. Failing to qualify for the final third round, both Bobby and Evan still had nice opening rounds of 75 and 76 on their first two days at the par 72 course. There may have been other local participants, but I didn't notice any - if so, let me know.

ing testimony. The jury began deliberating the case shortly after noon on Thursday and handed down their verdicts late Friday morning, according to court records.

Phillip Roberts, who was 33 at the time of the incident, was found guilty of first degree manslaughter, a class B felony, which carries a 10-20 year sentence, and second degree burglary, which carries up to five to 10 years. During the penalty phase, the jury recommended a sentence of 15 years on the first degree manslaughter charge and five years on the second degree burglary charge, to run concurrent for a total of 15 years.

Thomas Aaron Roberts, who was 38 at the time of the incident, was found guilty of reckless homicide, a class D felony that carries a sentence of five to 10 years and also second degree burglary charge. The recommendation was a sentence of five years on the reckless homicide charge and 10 years, the maximum penalty allowed, and recommended the sentences run consecutive for 15 years.

According to court records, Thomas Roberts will have to serve 20 percent of the sentence before being eligible to apply for parole, while Phillip Roberts, due to the crime he was convicted of being of a violent nature, will have to serve 85 percent of the sentence before being eligible for parole.

During last week's trial, which had heavy police security presence, the jury deliberated late into the night Thursday and when they could not reach a verdict, were sequestered to stay at a local hotel, with the deliberations resuming the following morning.

Both Phillip and Thomas Roberts were represented at trial by Somerset attorneys Beth Stanziano and Mark Stanziano while the case was prosecuted by Commonwealth Attorney Jesse Stockton and Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Clay Hundley.

Judge Williams ordered a pre-sentence investigation report be prepared and scheduled final sentencing for both defendants on August 14 at 9 a.m. in Clinton Circuit Court.

Tallent said. "It's probably the best feeling in the world."

Other than volunteers to help pass out food, volunteer bus drivers have given 13 days of service in order to help the cause.

Bus driver Bro. David Dorn said "Last night when I did my devotion with my kids I told them they didn't know how fortunate they are," Dorn said. "If they didn't do this, these kids wouldn't eat. I knew there was need but not to this extent. We've probably not even touched the surface of what is going on. It's worth the five hours a day we give."

Dorn said it was all about the kids.

"I love Ms. Tallent, but I'm not doing it for her. I'm doing it for the kids," Dorn said. "If you had two buses I know you could have 12 or 13 sites. I know outside the city there is a need."

Tallent has said since the beginning of the project last year, this is the most fulfilling thing she has done in her tenure as a teacher at Clinton County High School.

"It's the best thing I've done in education," Tallent said. "I can teach them everything I can in education in books, but this will last them a lifetime. The best thing is these kids are getting something out of it."

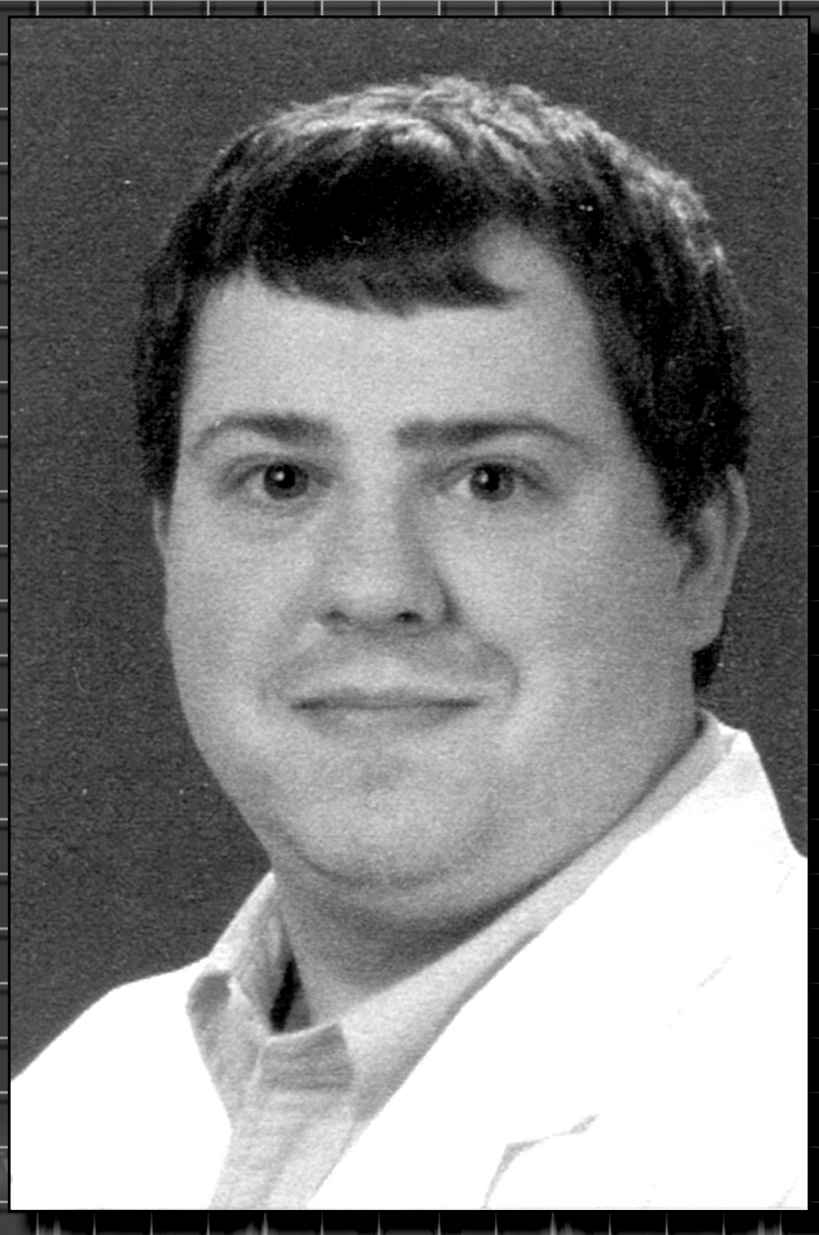

The morning stops will be made at Albany Manor 7:30-7:45 a.m., Reeves Trailer Park 7:50-8:05 a.m., Horseshoe Bend 8:15-8:30 a.m., Albany Center Apartments 8:40-8:55 a.m., Mountain View Trailer Park 9:05-9:20 a.m. and Wilson Airport Trailer Park 9:30-9:45 a.m. for breakfast.

For lunch, the stops will be made in the same order with times determined to be 10:30-10:50 a.m., 10:55-11:15 a.m., 11:25-11:45 a.m., 11:55 a.m.-12:15 p.m., 12:25-12:45 p.m. and 12:55-1:15 p.m. The project runs every weekday, except July 4, until July 28, 2014.

Trays and trays of lunch were being prepared Friday morning at Clinton County High School. The "Bus Stop Cafe" is a project originating from Melissa Tallent's AP class last fall. The summer feeding program supplies more than 500 meals each week to kids in the county.

Tax

The local tax was a controversy when passed and although it goes into the county's general fund to help pay for several services, the primary stated intent when originally passed was to help fund the local ambulance service.

Conner said that well over $200,000 is generated annually by the occupational tax.

However, with the percent of delinquencies or those not paying, the other side of that shows the county is losing over a very substantial amount every year in tax revenue.

Conner said she began looking closely at the list of businesses and individuals required to pay the tax and really began looking at ways of trying to get delinquent taxes collected and also to make people, especially new businesses, aware of the local tax. She also said she had been sharing lists of local residents with other counties, including working with the Corps of Engineers to make people aware of the three-quarter percent tax that should be withheld by employers.

Conner said she was trying to make contact with all new businesses that come into the county and is currently looking through the list to find businesses and individuals that are not paying. She also noted that some people may operate two or more businesses but are only paying on one.

"I have been making a lot of phone calls and trips and County Attorney Michael Rains is also sending out delinquent tax notice letters," Conner said. "We've also discussed advertising the issue on the local TV access channel and doing other promotionals. A packet explaining the occupational tax is also being given businesses and individuals who are required to pay it.

Conner is aware that collecting delinquent taxes or, in some case, any of the taxes won't be an easy task as she noted some people have already indicated to her they feel like they are paying too many taxes already. "A lot of people don't understand the (occupational) tax and still others aren't even aware of it," she added.

"We are going to work with the county attorney and ask businesses and individuals to comply and start paying," she said.

The penalties for not paying include the possibility of being taken to civil court and ordered to pay up to five years back taxes.

According to the revised Occupational License Fee ordinance filed in 2008, a couple of parts of the ordinance need to be noted, as follows:

* Occupational License Application Requires: (1) Every person or business entity engaged in any trade, occupation, or profession, or other activity for profit or anyone required to file a return under this ordinance in Clinton County shall be required to complete and execute the questionnaire prescribed by the Occupational Tax Office. Each person shall be required to complete a separate questionnaire for each separate business before the commencement of business or in the event of a status change, other than change of address. Licenses are required to notify the Occupational Tax Office of changes of address, or the cessation of business activity, and of other changes which render inaccurate the information supplied in the completed questionnaire.

KRS 67.755: (5) Any business entity that fails to submit the minimum quarterly payment required under subsection (4) of this section by the due date for the quarterly payment shall pay an amount equal to twelve percent (12 percent) per annum simple interest on the amount of the quarterly payment required under subsection (4) this section from the earlier of: (a) The due date for the quarterly payment until the time when the aggregate quarterly payments submitted for the taxable year equal the minimum aggregate payments due under subsection (4) of this section.

A copy of the full text of the Occupational License Tax ordinance is available at the tax administrator's office located in the county judge/executive's office. Anyone with questions or needing more information should contact OTA Conner at 387-6409.

Germans get Enigma
June 27, 1940

On this day in 1940, the Germans set up two-way radio communication in their newly occupied French territory, employing their most sophisticated coding machine, Enigma, to transmit information.

The Germans set up radio stations in Brest and the port town of Cherbourg. Signals would be transmitted to German bombers so as to direct them to targets in Britain. The Enigma coding machine, invented in 1919 by Hugo Koch, a Dutchman, looked like a typewriter and was originally employed for business purposes. The German army adapted the machine for wartime use and considered its encoding system unbreakable. They were wrong. The Brits had broken the code as early as the German invasion of Poland and had intercepted virtually every message sent through the system. Britain nicknamed the intercepted messages Ultra.

Teenage girl's boyfriend murders her parents
June 28, 1975

Police are called to the home of Jim and Naomi Olive in Terra Linda, California, after Jim Olive's business partner reports that the couple has not been seen in a week. The house in disarray, officers found no sign of either the Olives or their adopted teenage daughter Marlene. However, Marlene turned up at the police station later that day and began telling a bizarre series of stories explaining her parent's disappearance.

Marlene first claimed that her parents had gone to Lake Tahoe for a vacation but had not returned. As the interrogation extended into the second day, she told detectives that Jim had killed Naomi and then fled. But, when pressed on this story, she contradicted herself and claimed that her mother was the killer. In an entirely new tale, she then told the police that both of her parents were killed and taken away by a group of Hell's Angels.

The detectives waited patiently until Marlene finally led them to a fire pit outside the town where the burned remains of her parents were located. With a little investigation, the detectives found out about Chuck Riley, Marlene's boyfriend. At his home was an unopened letter from Marlene that read, "I have no guilty feelings at all about my folks. NONE. NEITHER SHOULD YOU. Relax."

From Riley, police learned that Marlene and Naomi had a rocky relationship, mostly because Naomi was schizophrenic and paranoid. Apparently, she repeatedly told her daughter that she would grow up to be a whore just like her real mother. Angry and insecure, Marlene began biting off chunks of her own arm.

Marlene met Chuck Riley in 1974, and the two began a contractual relationship: Marlene provided sex for Riley in return for drugs. In March 1975, the two went on a $6,000 shoplifting spree and Naomi threatened to send Marlene to juvenile hall.

On June 21, Marlene arranged to go shopping with her father while Riley sneaked into the house and attacked Naomi with a claw hammer. Failing to kill her, he then stabbed her in the chest with a kitchen knife. By the time Jim and Marlene returned home, Riley was still in the middle of the attack. When Jim attempted to intervene, Riley shot and killed him.

Because she was a teenager at the time of the murders, Marlene Olive served only four years before being released from prison in 1979. Riley was given a death sentence that was later commuted to life imprisonment.

Local men attend highway meeting in Crossville

A call meeting of Wolf Creek Dam Highway Association at Welche's Cafe, Crossville, Tenn., was called by J. C. Whittle, president of Crossville Kiwanis Club, Tuesday night, June 22, with representatives from Danville, Ky., and representatives from Albany, Ky.

Judge Clark, President of the Association, urged quick action of people in Tennessee in requesting designation of Tennessee Highway 127 extending from Cincinnati, Ohio to Chattanooga, Tenn., following Kentucky Highway 35.

Full staff at health department

The Clinton County Health Department office will have a full staff on duty Mondays and Wednesdays, hours 8-12, and 1-4, and Saturdays, 8-12.

It is hoped that this new schedule will meet the increasing demand for immunizations and other services.

Mothers are reminded again to bring in children who will start to school, along with the younger brothers and sisters.

As typhoid is prevalent in this county, more adults should have this protection also.

Sunday school being built at Highway

A complete Sunday School unit is being built at the Highway Church to take care of the increasing crowds. The church is making remarkable progress according to the pastor, Bob Hoots. There were 16 young people who accepted Christ in the regular service last Sunday morning.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor,

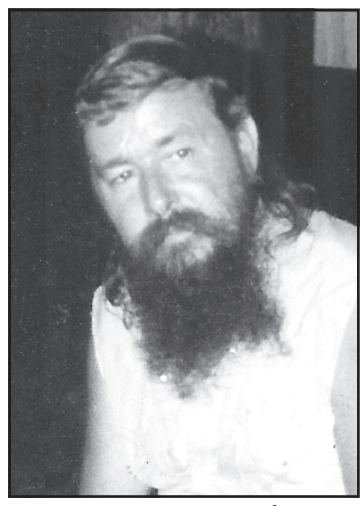

Haman in Esther 3 could have talked the King into killing Mordecai. He had refused to bow down to Haman every time they met. Haman's hate is much bigger. Mordecai is only one Jewish person. Haman wants all Jews dead.

Verse 8 gives the reason for Haman's hate of Jews. They are different. They love God and follow God's laws. Haman does not. Evil will never love good, but seek to destroy it.

By end of chapter 3, the King has allowed Haman to start spreading the news. On a certain day, all Jewish people of all ages can be legally killed. All they own will be given to the killer.

That's how many Kentucky adults read a daily, Sunday or weekly newspaper during an average week.

That's more than 5 out of 6 people.

And truth be told, we like to think that 6th person might be listening while one of the other five reads out loud.

84 PERCENT

Source: Advertising and Media Use in Kentucky (June 2010, American Opinion Research)

It's all right here. In the newspaper.

This fact brought to you by the Kentucky Press Association and its 162 member newspapers.

In Memory of
LETA WALLEN APPLEBY
January 29, 1936 ~ June 24, 2013

I know you are gone now, to where the streets are gold.
I know you're there where the angels roam.
And I know you're waiting on us to come home,
But don't worry it won't be too long.

You are like a rose in full bloom.
With every rose I see, I see you.
With every rose there's a memory.
With every memory I see you and me.

One day I'll meet you on those golden streets,
And we will walk hand in hand as Bill Monroe sings.
And I will be holding the prettiest rose that ever bloomed.
